INTRODUCTION

Education is the most important element for the progress of a nation, with a good education the nation will be able to produce superior human resources, and a generation of qualified people will be able to have major influence on the progress of the nation. There are several components in education including, the main component in education is the input component provided by the teacher and students, the second component consist of a process that is influenced by the environment and the third component is the result, which is the impact of interactions between educators and participants students.

In the process of implementation of learning it cannot be separated from the influence that come as a stimulus that can stimulate fast or slow even succeed or whether a learning process. There are several factors that affect students in learning among them are family factor, environmental factors, motivation factors, talents, interests etc.

Interest plays a very important role in learning, because if a person is not interested in learning something, it will not work well, but if someone has an interest in the object of the problem then it can be expected results well, with interest Learning will make students more actively involved in the learning process.

Slamet (2010) states that interest is persisting tendency to pay attention to and enjoy some activity and content. It means that, interest is a tendency to pay attention and remember some activity. Students who have an interest will pay attention and feel enjoy to something and get satisfaction from that. Interest will rise if get a stimulus from the outside and feel pleasure trough something. This feels arising from the environment or from the object of interest. It can be seen, if a teacher want to success in doing teaching and learning activities should be able to provide stimulus to the students, so that they are interested in participating in the learning process.

Thus, interest in learning is a crucial factor in the success of student learning. In addition, learning interests can also support and influence the learning process in schools, especially in learning English.

English language learning at this time is very important to learn, since English is an international language commonly used to communicate with people from abroad. In addition, English in Indonesia has also evolved into an intellectual and social self-imaging medium. to be implemented well through education in schools, that is through English language lessons.

English lessons are lessons that teach vocabulary and teach procedures to communicate well using English. English language lessons play a very important role in this globalization era, because through English lessons obtained at school, one will be able to understand and speak English, with the English language lessons Facilitate generations to compete and interact with other countries.

But in general the English skills possessed by students are still very low. This is influenced by several factors in learning, one of which is a very low interest in learning English. In practice not a few teachers who find obstacles in teaching in class because of the lack of students’ interest in teaching English, if this happens, then the teaching and learning process will experience obstacles in achieving learning objectives.

However, to know the interest learning is important. The problems are faced by the students might be different in one school to another school. Based on the observation, in fact, the researcher found that the most of the students in SMA Negeri 1 Sukodadi Lamongan, their interest in learning is very low for English lesson. Students still really need more motivation and attention by the teacher in learning English.

The fact is most of the students ignore the teacher that explaining in front. When the teacher explaining the English subject in front, students are very not interested to pay attention, there is no sense of enthusiasm that they show when the process of learning English takes place and likewise also when the teacher gives some question in class students also do not actively to answer, most of students just keep quiet and not enthusiastic to take English lesson.

The previous studies which related to this research is from Rahmawati Fitriani (2018) with her research entitled “Interest and Motivation in Learning English at the Fourth Grade Students in Elementary School in Samarinda” this research focused on identifying an interest and motivation students in learning English, in this research used qualitative as the design. Data collection technique used in this research are observation, questionnaire and interview. The results from Rahmawati Fitriani research students’ interest and motivation in learning English is very high.

RESEARCH METHOD

In this research, the researcher used the descriptive qualitative research. According to Nassaji (2015) Qualitative and descriptive research method have been very common procedure for conducting research in many disciplines, including education, psychology, and social sciences. According to Miles and Huberman (in Sugiyono, 2016) Activities in qualitative data analysis are carried out interactively and continue continuously until the data is saturated. Qualitative research are methods for exploring and understanding the meaning that some individuals or groups of people consider as coming from social or humanitarian problems.

In this research descriptive is done with the aim to describe systematic about the facts and characteristics of the subject (students from SMA Negeri 1 Sukodadi Lamongan). Researchers use descriptive design in this case research is focused on certain phenomena in the school environment about student’s interest’ in learning English. The researcher uses descriptive research methods because the researcher tries to describe each type of student interest’ in learning English.

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSION

The interview stage was conducted by researchers with some students in the eleventh grade of social 2, this interview technique was carried out by randomizing the names of students the researchers obtained from student absences and also interviewing English teachers in their class. In this case the researcher only interviewed 10 students out of 32 students consisting of 5 male students and 5 female students. The interview was conducted by using Indonesian language. After collecting interview data, the writer transcribed it into English. For the interview, 10 students were asked the same questions.

Most of students think that English lessons are boring lesson, “this is support by students answer about what do you think about English lesson?”

(Student1 : English is not interested subject to learn)

(Student2 : English is a boring subject)

Most students answering an English lesson are very difficult lessons to learn. this is support by students answer about “Is English an easy lesson to learn?”

(Student1 : no, English is difficult to learn)

(Student7 : no, English is difficult to learn)

Most of students are not interested in learning English this is support by the students answered about “are you interested in always learning English?”

(student 6 : no miss)

The students always pay attention when learning process but have no interest to know further. It is support by the student answered about “When your teacher explains English material, does it appear in your mind to always be interested in paying attention and further curiosity arises about English lesson?”

(student 4 : yes always pay attention and but didn’t want to more curiosity arises about English lesson)

Based on the results of the interviews about “Is learning English important? please give the reason!” . It can be concluded that, the whole student answered yes English is the important lesson because it makes it easy to communicate with strangers.

(student : yes important, because to communicate with tourist)

For the sixth question is about “When the learning process of English material takes place, what do you feel? are you happy, bored or excited?”. Most students answer very bored because of teaching methods that are too monotonous and boring, there is no variation in teaching, students are just listening.

(student 4 : bored always because I dislike an English lesson)

(student 8 : bored, because the teacher is too monotonous)

Most of students feel happy if they get the highest score this is support by students answer about “Are you happy if you get highest score when the teacher gives some question like quiz during an English lesson?”.

(student 8 : yess miss really happy)

Most students in class answered the question about “Do you understand when English teacher explained English material? if you don’t understand, how you behave, ask to the teacher or silent?”. It is not easy to understand because the way the material is being addressed by English teachers is very unclear and not easy to understand. Most students’ attitudes when they don’t understand they ask their teachers/classmates.

(Student1 : didn’t understand, because the teacher’s explanation isn’t clear. Ask to the teacher)

(Student2 : didn’t understand. Sometimes ask to the teacher and sometimes ask to my friends.)

“Are you agree if the English learning method always involves students in the learning process, not just the teacher who explains?”. All of the students answer agree because students do not like if the english teacher used monotonous method.

(Student2 : yes, I agree)

(Student3 : yes, I agree)

“What do you do when discussing with your friends about English subjects?”. A few students have been involved, and most students are silent when discussing the reasons for not being able and not understanding.

(Student3: give an opinion sometime)

(Student7: just listen, because I can’t)

In this case the researchers interviewed the teacher English only used 5 question.

Based on the results of the teacher interviews about “How is the process of learning English in the class mom?” It can be concluded that the learning process in the eleventh grade of social is quite conducive, but there are some obstacles caused by the lack of a handbook, but it is quite solved by the existence of the library.

Based on the results of the teacher's interview about “Are students in the eleventh grade of social 2 always enthusiastic to follow the process of learning English?” It can be concluded the student spirit in following the English lesson is very varied, and less likely to be passionate, and the English teacher also stated that the teacher should use a variation of methods in teaching.

Based on the results of the teacher interviews about “Are students always actively participate in the process of learning English?” It can be concluded that the students in this class tend to be less active, this is supported by the statement of the teacher if the activity of the students in the class still need a prodigie.

Based on the results of the teacher interviews about “Are students always pay attention when the teacher explains English material subjects?” It can be concluded that the teacher must always be provoked the students with some questions so that the student's attention will be created.

Based on the results of the teacher's interviews about “What do you think about the learning interest of students class in the eleventh grade of social 2?” It can be concluded that the student's learning interest in the class is quite low, it is influenced by several factors such as lack of motivation, family factors, environment etc.
