I. INTRODUCTION

Humans are the subject of education, and as an object of education, because those humans have the attitude to be educated and educate, however, the success of these efforts depends largely on whether the purpose is clear. According to Aristotle, the purpose of education should be formulated in accordance with the objectives of the establishment of a country [1]. Therefore, it can take an understanding that the value of education can be seen from the existing educational purposes.

The state of society can be measure through education. Therefore, dilapidation society will not be repaired in any way except by education, according Plato. The rapid advancement of the development of society presupposed by the growing public demand for the development of educational institutions, so that it is possible for the institution that can not acommodation demands of society will have an impact on exclusion institution or die along with waning interest.

Educational institutions and the public is not just a relationship, but rather the meaning of communication and breadth of this will have an impact on the harmonization of school and public relations. In addition to the need for effective communication given that the nation we live in has a lot of culture. " In this global multicultural era, to be able to establish effective communication requires social and cultural sustainability that is obtained by the perpetrators of public relations with stakeholders [2]. In other words, the relationship of the school with the public will bear fruit in the form of cooperation, and such cooperation can be implemented properly in the event of communication conducive and leads to meeting the needs of both." School become the main point for the surrounding environment, so the development and planning must be based on environmental concepts that involve the participation of the related environment." [3].

Constraints faced by Al-Aziziyah junior high school the case studies in this research is a common problem that is often faced by the school, it is proved by some researchers observed results in some schools especially private around junior high school Al-Aziziyah. Often, school and public relations more to the pattern of one-way relationship, the willingness of schools to meet the needs of the public on matters relating to the school which makes the students as adults that are beneficial to life and for society in general. " One of the functions of strategic management on achieving organizational goals and objectives is often interpreted as public relations [4]. With such demands would be a burden for the school, with all its limitations. This means that the school less get feedback from the public, so this research is in need to be examined in order to find a treatment or a good public relationship management.

Urgency of this study also shape efforts to prove their relevance or management relationship society which implies the junior high school Al-Aziziyah these will then be proved by the comparative study, a comparison of the state of school before applying the management of public relations with the state or school results after applying management PR school. Researchers also will take the focus on the factors that affect the management of public relations. The shape of a person's interest is influenced by environmental background, economic level, social status, and experience. Interest a person can develop as a result of physical and social changes in society [5].

The general objective of the holding of research based on the problems found knows how to manage public relations conducted junior high school Al-Aziziyah Sidoarjo increase public interest. Support in analyzing, describing the picture of the public relationship management at Al-Aziziyah sidoarjo... organizing in Al-Aziziyah junior high school covers the basic steps in organizing programs or public relations activities in educational institutions.

Among others at the start of the decisive tasks, time parameters and needs, positions and responsibilities, detailing the relationship of authority, supervisory relationships and communication links. This is supported by the theory of the basic steps in organizing Gorton is to determine the tasks, time parameters and needs, positions and responsibilities, detailing the relationship of authority, supervisory relationships, communication links [8].

Organizing is not spared by good coordination. Coordinatio means keeping each task that has been given the authority and responsibility be done in accordance with the rules in achieving the goals that have been communicated together. It thus supported the theory coordination is a series of activities to connect, integrate, and align people and jobs. [9]

Implementation of public relations in an effort to attract people in the junior high school Al-Aziziyah Sidoarjo.

Implementation of activities or programs of public relations. Al-Aziziyah junior high school to build relationships inside and outside of this consists of two, namely: (1) the implementation of activities or internal public relations program and (2) the implementation of activities or external public relations program.

The process of implementation of the supervision by the principal and foundation leaders directly in its implementation. supervision of the school and the foundation. Form of supervision is usually monitored by the licensing agreement in handing the sponsorship facilities at primary schools around the school. It is supported by theory According to Johnson, 15 points out, the supervisor is a function of the system to make adjustments to the plan, arranged for the purpose of system deviations only within the limits that can tolerant [10].

Evaluation of public relations in an effort to attract people in the junior high school Al-Aziziyah Sidoarjo. The evaluation process of public relations at the school is done through two stages, summative and formative evaluation. Evaluations were performed at implementation public relations activities and programs itself to equate the implementation planning activities or programs that are made together. While the formative evaluation conducted when the execution has been completed by looking at the activity report or program by comparing it with the checklist there.

Based on a description of the management of public relations that have been in explore, investigators assessed in addition to improve management of public relations at the school, preferably the relationship that occurs not only in one direction or from the school to the public, because of the results of research in the junior high school Al-Aziziyah role of parents is very minimal, Parents Take the important role for all role in the world such as educators, volunteers, decision makers, and a team member working with teachers at the school”. [11]
Moreover those are supposed to be implemented right as well to create a mutualistic relationship or mutual benefit. Such as Factors affecting the public interest in the junior high school Al-Aziziyyah Sidoarjo. Public relations are a group of people concerned with all things being equal, interest and similar interests. Emory S. Bogardus in his book The Making of Public Opinion, 17 states that the public is the large number of people in which the source from one another may not know each other, but all have the same concern and interest to a problem. As well as the findings of the data in this study who will present some of the factors especially using SWOT analysis (strength, weak, opportunity, threat) [12].

Factors that affect the interests of the public in the junior high school Al-Aziziyyah Sidoarjo at the start of the factors that support or in strength including the SWOT analysis in this school is the number of graduates who continue the education armed with enough religious knowledge recognized by the public.

Factors junior high school Al-Aziziyyah weakness is the lack of the number of students with backgrounds that affect the budget of middle school fees. BOS funds are in accordance with the number of students in the school plus the additional funding contribution of each student is minimal yet meet all the needs of programs and activities in schools.

Factors junior high school Al-Aziziyyah opportunities are religious schools and with communities that have religious culture, this school is based on Islamic religious foundation that became the benchmark for all local residents. In accordance with the theory according to at.al Engel 18 points of which Environmental Factors [13].

Factors junior high school Al-Aziziyyah threat is the behavior of some students who are less well be a reflection of the school so that negatively affect the image of the school. There are some children who received less attention and a good upbringing so that it can affect some other friends. This led to an interest in because of the public which, according to the theory Mappiare suggests that the shape of a person’s interest is influenced by environmental background, economic level, social status, and experience. Solution of these obstacles in doing school apart cooperate with the public about guiding the student is tightened inside the school [14].
