1. Introduction

Bali is a tourist destination of the world and has great tourism potential due to it’s natural beauty, the diversity of art and culture, as well as the religious social life of its unique community with the majority of its Hindu population. The rapid development of tourism in Bali makes tourism an integral part of people’s lives in Bali. The city of Denpasar is the capital of Bali province, in addition to having a number of potential tourist attractions as well as a barometer or representation of the image of Bali tourism (first image of Bali). As a tourist destination, the city of Denpasar has a number of tourist attractions that are not less interesting than other areas. Likewise, various supporting facilities such as tourism accommodation, restaurants, travel agencies, shopping centers, and health facilities are always ready to serve the needs of tourists. The policy measures that have been pursued by the Denpasar City Government in the framework of tourism development in Denpasar are stated in the Tourism Destination Development Program, which is called Activity Year of Denpasar Visit (Sightseeing Denpasar, 2008). Denpasar Sightseeing Program is a tourism program that embraces various arts and cultural activities, which are carried out continuously in Denpasar city every year since 2008. Denpasar Festival is a pre-eminent activity in Denpasar Sightseeing Program which is held periodically every end of year starting in 2008 when it is known as the Gajah Mada Festival. Along with that, Denpasar City Government intensively disseminate city branding Denpasar city entitled “Denpasar, The Heart of Bali,” which adorn every advertisement of tourism. This is a good breakthrough done by the City Government of Denpasar in an effort to realize the creative city of Denpasar. Although explicitly visible, the vision tends to the cultural base of the course, but there is no harm in the spatial side should also be an important consideration for the Government of Denpasar as a policy giver. The courage to include creative city keywords in the formal development vision would need to be appreciated. By looking at the potential of Denpasar with historical background and characteristic of creative society, it is very possible that the city of Denpasar is able to meet the criteria of creative city development initiated by experts. Landry (2008) explains that as a whole there are seven prerequisites for realizing the creative city from various aspects, namely personal qualities, leadership, Diversity of species and human talents, organizational culture, Local identity, Urban space and facilities, and network dynamics. In addition, Evans et al. (2006) also provide some important aspects of the creative city gained from the experience of Toronto and New York. In addition to the above policy steps, efforts to support the development of tourism Denpasar is also done through the policy of realizing the City of Denpasar as a creative city (creative city) based on superior culture. The policy is implemented in the form of a number of activities that show the innovative spirit and creativity of the people of Denpasar. These activities include Denpasar Pet’s Festival, Denpasar Hortikultura Festival, PekanSeniRemaja, Ritual RahinaTumpak, Sanur Village Festival, DTIK (Denpasar Information, Communication and Technology) Festival, The Exotic of Wastra dan Cinta by Anak Bangsa, Lomba Chef Senior, Denpasar Festival, Rare Festival, Utsawa Dharma Gita, Dialog Budaya Rembug Sastra, Photo Contest Denpasar Creative, Maha Bandana Prasadhra Event, and Denpasar City Anniversary Ceremony that are always filled with diversity food heritage, music, fashion show, art market, farm market, seminars, and awards. Creativity is the Main Vision of Denpasar City Development. As a region with minimal natural resources, Denpasar has only three human resources, which is believed to be a key strategy of development in Denpasar city and is supported by the intensity of social and economic interaction. Creativity is the main capital to have competitiveness in facing global challenges. Creativity can have an economic impact, but of course there must be a motivation. One of the Government’s steps to stimulate economic growth is by providing creative spaces such as the Denpasar Festival. Creative economic forms always come up with a distinctive added value, create their own “market,” and succeed in absorbing labor and economic income. Pangestu as Minister of Tourism and Creative Economy period 2011–2014 in the Creative Economy Development Convention 2009–2015 when he served several reasons why the creative industries need to be developed in Indonesia mentioned, among others (1) make a significant economic contribution, (2) creating a positive business climate, (3) to build the image of national identity, (4) based on renewable resources, (5) create innovation and creativity which is a nation’s competitive advantage, and (6) provides a positive social impact. One of the reasons for the development of creative industries is the positive impact that will affect the social life, business climate, economic improvement, and also affect the image of a region. Related to the effort to realize Denpasar as a creative city, Bappeda Denpasar since 2008 has tried to develop creative city concept by synergizing the six components mentioned.

2. Methodology
This research uses a qualitative method. According to Moleong (2007), it is qualitative research and is a research procedure to produce descriptive data in the form of written words or orally from the people and behavior that can be observed. According to Nazir (1988), descriptive method is a method in examining the status of a group of people, an object, a set of conditions, a system of thought, or a class of events in the present. The purpose of this descriptive research is to make description, picture, or painting systematically, factually, and accurately about facts, traits, and relationship between the phenomena studied. Meanwhile, according to Sugiyono (2005) states that the descriptive method is a method used to describe or analyze a research result but not used to make wider conclusions. Data utilized in this study were primary and secondary data. Primary data were results by interviewing event organizer Denpasar festival to know the development of Denpasar festival every year. And for secondary data were obtained through the official website of the city government Denpasar and various sources containing news about Denpasar Festival.

3. Results and discussion
3.1. City branding definition
Brand is an impression felt by consumers about a product or service. Brand is all tangible and intangible values that become uniqueness in a product or service. Brand is not just a symbol that distinguishes the product from one another, but the brand is all the attributes that come into the mind of the consumer when thinking about a particular product (Moilanen and Rainisto, 2009, p. 6). Brand is created and formed in one’s mind. A brand can be created when a group of people in a particular group have the same thoughts about the personality of a brand. Brand is not created by the designer or managerial ranks of a company, but formed in the minds of consumers (Moilanen and Rainisto, 2009, p. 7). So when someone creates a new name or logo for a new product, he has created a brand. However, the brand is not a product but gives meaning to the product and defines the identity of the product in time and space. A brand is a promise, a perception, everything that a consumer sees, hears, reads, knows, feels about a product, a service, or a business. The brand also has a privileged position in the minds of consumers, based on past experience, association, and future expectations.

City branding can be said as a strategy of a country or region to create a strong positioning in the minds of their target market, such as positioning a product or service, so that countries and regions can be widely known throughout the world. City branding can be interpreted as a process of forming a city brand or an area to be known by the target market (investors, tourist, talent, and event) the city by using icons, slogans, exhibitions, as well as good positioning, in various forms of promotional media. The thing that makes a city or area to do city branding is to introduce the city or region with in depth and improve the image of the city itself. In addition, it can attract tourists both foreign and domestic tourists. In the making of city branding can attract investors to invest in the city and certainly can increase the value of trade (Gobe, 2012, p. 12). In every successful city branding, the city government should conduct a strategic check on trends within the community and the economy.
Determine where the city’s opportunities, skills, resources, and abilities are. Find out about core values, attitudes, characteristics, and characteristics of the city in achieving the desired goals; and looking for the right combination that creates an interesting differentiation for various circles (Dinnie, 2011, p. 15).

This city branding activity requires each region to compete to create a certain image in the mind of a broad community in representing the character of the city. The image of the city has the power in forming a city brand, even affecting the city itself.
