Dear respondent, thank you very much for agreeing to do this interview with me today. Studies have shown that many maternal deaths result from complications during and following pregnancy and childbirth and timely management and treatment can make the difference between life and death for both the mother and the baby. It is against this background that we seek to know your opinions about the referrals of emergency obstetric cases to this facility. This is purely an academic exercise and as such all responses will be treated with the strictest confidence.
