Internal factors include intelligence (IQ), interests, attitudes, talents, motivation and reading goals, while external factors include means of reading, reading texts, environmental factors or socioeconomic background factors, reading habits and traditions.

To understand a reading, one must have a reading comprehension technique. Devine as quoted by [4] provides a definition of reading comprehension is the process of syntax, semantic, and rhetorical information contained in written texts arranged in the mind of reading by using public knowledge possessed, cognitive abilities and reasoning. Next the reader formulates the hypothesis as an embodiment of the explicit message of the text. This definition explains that in understanding the reading, the reader builds new knowledge by linking reasoning and knowledge already known.

Reading is a process that is carried out and used by readers to obtain the message to be conveyed by the author through the media of words or written language [2]. People who love to read will gain new knowledge and insights that can increase their intelligence so that they are better able to answer challenges in the future. Reading will be increasingly important in complex community life because every aspect of life involves reading. Farr. quoted by [1], states, "reading is the heart of education" which means reading is the heart of education. People who read often, their education will advance and they will have broad insights.

By reading we can find out the whole world and our thinking patterns will develop. Reading is an activity to understand and interpret symbols or signs / writings that are meaningful so that the message conveyed by the writer can be received by the reader. Reading comprehension is a person's ability to reconstruct the message contained in the text that is read by connecting knowledge possessed to understand the main idea, important details, and the whole understanding and remember the material read.

Reading deals with ability of people in articulating word in a written text and understanding meaning that is conveyed in it. Reading comprehension means understanding of thing that we read, how we get much information from the reading...
Students in English Literature at Musamus University, it was found that lack of student ability to understand reading material. Beside that students find it difficult to interpret a reading, because there are still many vocabulary that do not yet know the meaning, besides that students also find it difficult to determine the main idea of a reading, and are unable to read simple words or sentences correctly. The research is expected to help the students learning about reading comprehension, they can enjoy to learn English especially reading by using novel and also the students became the center of teaching learning process by involving themselves through the participation in class.

Based on the explanation above, the researcher hopes that novel is helpful in teaching reading and will be improve the students’ reading ability.
