If isocurvature fluctuations still exist after inflation has ended, then reheating is important!