Since January 2020 Elsevier has created a COVID-19 resource centre with free information in English and Mandarin on the novel coronavirus COVID-19. The COVID-19 resource centre is hosted on Elsevier Connect, the company’s public news and information website.

Elsevier hereby grants permission to make all its COVID-19-related research that is available on the COVID-19 resource centre - including this research content - immediately available in PubMed Central and other publicly funded repositories, such as the WHO COVID database with rights for unrestricted research re-use and analyses in any form or by any means with acknowledgement of the original source. These permissions are granted for free by Elsevier for as long as the COVID-19 resource centre remains active.

Cover Legend:
β-catenin interacts with a number of proteins through its central helical repeat domain; this domain is composed of 12 repeats, each of which consists of three short α-helices (purple cylindrical arrows). The figure displays the crystal structures of this region of β-catenin in association with parts various interacting proteins: axin (blue), the adenomatous polyposis coli protein (APC) (green), ICAT (blue), the cytoplasmic tail domain of cadherin (blue) and the N-terminal region of a LEF/TCF-type transcription factor. Images were generated using the Cn3D program using data downloaded from the Entrez Structure web site: http://www.ncbi.nih.gov/Database/
