Introduction

Pondok pesantren are functioned as a developer and maintainer of the teaching of Islamic orthodoxy. A wide range of beliefs, norms, and Islamic values are transmitted through a variety of instructional activities, formally and informally. Religious teachings are develops normative, symbolic, and sometimes, less responsive to the community development on the outside. For example, gender equality and multiculturalism are foreign issues in pondok pesantren. This is often reinforced by the teachings presented by Kyai and Nyai in various forms of study, treatment, and the practice of everyday life to the Santri in the area of pondok pesantren that are still bias in gender.

Life in pondok pesantren generally still holds traditional culture, where the pattern of communication still hierarchical between Santri and Kyai, or between Ustadz/Ustadzah (teachers) and their Santri. The regulations that applied to the Santri generally top-down and even apply heavy sanctions if violates the rules. Kitabs that are taught generally use classic still bias in gender. Such culture then internalized by Santri and stored in their subconscious memory, so have the bias mindset that manifest in insights, attitudes, and behavior. When already become a mindset, it would be potentially causing a conflict when socializing with different cultures.

Even so, not all boarding schools have the same condition. Some modern Islamic Boarding School in Indonesia, for example: Gontor in East Java and several of its branches and across Indonesia, Al-Salam in Solo, and others, have been accommodating to contemporary developments, engage in various other fields in multidimensional with developments outside of boarding schools.

Some opinions about the existence, characteristics, and traditions of life in boarding schools has been widely described by the experts. According to Mujammil Qomar, boarding schools are often identified have three important roles in society, namely the Indonesia Center for the transmission of traditional Islamic sciences, keeping the continuity of traditional Islam, and reproduction of the ‘ulama’.

Although pondok pesantren have many contributions in building the nation mental, but some education observers much criticized it. Abdullah Ali stated that Islamic education during this time has a lot of practicing the educational process which are exclusive and dogmatic. These educational process as it generally happens at the madrasah, Islamic schools, and boarding schools. Amin Abdullah criticized that the process and instruction of education in pondok pesantren generally emphasize the salvation of individual and his group than the salvation of others outside the group. Abdul Munir Mulkhan mentioned the weakness of the Islamic Education include: (1) the limited space of the difference of opinion between teachers with students, or between one student with other students and the learning process are indoctrinative; (2) The educational focus only on achieving the capabilities of ritual and tauhid belief, and singular material namely true-false and good-bad that is mechanistic. According to Abdurrahman Mas'ud, an indicator of the weakness of Islamic education that is both exclusive and indoctrinative due to: (1) The teacher more frequently advised students in a threatening way; (2) Teachers more often pursue standard academic value, so little regard for aspects of morality or student manners; (3) The intellectual intelligence of students are not balanced with social sensitivity and spirituality of religion. Although this is closer to criticism in formal schools, the consideration of researchers raises

Therefore, a model of Islamic education in Indonesia that monocultural is not appropriate with the Indonesia community that plural and multicultural, in accordance with the mandate of Van Indonesia No.20/ 2003 about the System of National Education that accommodate the values of human rights and multicultural spirit, even described that: "Education was held in a democratic and equitable and not discriminatory, with the upholding of human rights, cultural values, religious values, and the pluralization of the nation"6. Therefore, it is proper for Islamic education institutions to perform the transformation from monocultural paradigm to multicultural paradigm.

The term multicultural is always associated with education, so it has a broad meaning any set of processes by which schools work rather than against oppressed groups. The term used for Multicultural Education in several countries has differences, for example: interethnic education, transcultural education, multiethnic education, cross-cultural education, human rights education, intercultural education, or inclusive education. Multicultural Education is learning that is free from racism, sexism, and other forms of social domination and intolerance7. Everyone must be treated fairly and empowered. There is no dominance of minority groups, both due to skin color, religion, gender, social status, and other attributes and characteristics.

According to the Islamic perspective, cultural differences are circumcisions. Multicultural Education opens awareness of the world of education “how to address differences with tolerant and egalitarian attitudes”8.

Multicultural Education is widely recognize, respect, and accommodate the diversity of gender, ethnicity, culture, race, social strata, religious schools, and religion. Multicultural Education aims to liberate people from ignorance, poverty, underdevelopment, inequality as a result of the bottom-up hierarchical partnership, dominance-subordination, superior-inferior, oppressive-oppressed in the relationship of religious, ethnic, cultural, and gender. Bina Insan Mulia (BIMA) Pondok pesantren in Cirebon - West Java, which chosen as the object of this research, as it has implemented the Multicultural Islamic Education.

Multicultural Education is very urgent, can even be given to students as early as possible, especially in the current global era, in which the limits of world culture is getting thin, so some institutions have implemented Multicultural Education.

Method

Based on the content fields, this research used two approaches are Islamic Education and Multicultural Education. The data obtained from the field research and library research.

This research used qualitative descriptive method, which the results of the research will be presented in the form of a narrative description. This research is descriptive research pertained to the qualitative, due to the nature of the data collected in the form of conditions of social reality are observed and analyzed in a descriptive narrative, and not the shape of the data that can be quantified with numbers, both the data collected in earlier surveys, during the process of the research, as well as analysis and the results’ reports of research.

The main respondents of research are Kyai and ustadz/ustadzah as primary, and the respondent santriwan (male student) and santrivati (female student) represent the purposive from each level as the advocates respondent. The research data collection using four techniques: interviews, observation, documentation, and focus group discussion (FGD). There are some steps taken in analyzing the research data: (1) collecting data, (2) performing data reduction, (3) doing the display data, (4) verification of the data, and (5) the deduction.
The Implementation of Multicultural Islamic Education

Multicultural Islamic Education implemented in the BIMA pondok pesantren can be examined from emergence and material of methods. The learning method applying andragogy method, which Santri should treated to be a self-sufficient man in all things, both to maintain the necessities of life or way of learning that suits of each their learning style and feel appropriate and comfortable. The task of the teacher as a facilitator and supervisor of learning. The material taught is limited according to their interest to continue the studies, and target of study is in accordance with the interests and goals of the future to develop a specific science. The institutions only provide and serve the lessons that require and support on their future goals. The curriculum of pondok pesantren includes six categories: (1) Appropriate subjects of UN (Ujian Nasional); (2) Classical kitabs; (3) Tahfidz Qur'an; (4) Foreign language; (5) Arts, culture, and sports according to their interests; (6) Multicultural insights and actual issues of Kyai directly to the Santri and Teachers.

In the current global era, in almost all parts of the world, the social reality of its citizens is multicultural, caused by bilateral or multilateral diplomatic relations between countries, both in the fields of economy, education, social, religion, culture, and politics. According to Berry et al, that multiculturalism basically aims to create a sociopolitical context that allows individuals to develop healthy identities and reciprocally develop positive attitudes among groups9. The development of multicultural ideologies, attitudes and policies can be a reliable solution in an effort to create a just society, integrate with shared values that value the diversity of the social and political ideal of the togetherness in difference culture10.

The term multiculturalism has different meanings in the context of Sociology, political philosophy, and daily use. In Sociology and daily use, the word is synonymous with ethnic pluralism, where the two terms are often used interchangeably.

For example, a cultural pluralism, in which various ethnic groups collaborate and are able to dialogue with one another without having to sacrifice their particular identity. Multicultural education is very important given to the Santri so that they grow a sense of solidarity and social care for others who are different in gender, social class, race, and ethnicity, as stated by Banks & Banks as follows:

Multicultural education incorporates the idea that all students regardless of their gender, social class, and ethnic, racial, or cultural characteristics should have an equal opportunity to learn in school. Another important idea in multicultural education is that some students, because of these characteristics, have a better chance to learn in schools as they are currently structured than do students who belong to others groups or who have different cultural characteristics. Multicultural education is also a reform movement that is trying to change the schools and other educational institutions so that students from all social-class, gender, racial, language, and cultural groups will have an equal opportunity to learn. Multicultural education involves changes in the total school or educational environment, it is not limited to curricular changes.

The definition of Multicultural Education explained by experts with different sentences. According to Bikhu Parekh, Multicultural Education is an education in freedom, both in the sense of freedom from ethnocentric prejudices and biases, and freedom to explore and learn from other cultures and perspectives. Almost the same definition is explained by Banks & Banks as follows:

Multicultural education is an idea, an educational reform movement, and a process whose major goal is to change the structure of educational institutions so that male and female students, exceptional students, and students who are members of diverse racial, ethnic, language, and cultural groups will have an equal chance to achieve academically in school. It is necessary to conceptualize the school as a social system in order to implement multicultural education successfully. Each major variable in the school, such as its culture, its power relationships, the curriculum and materials, and the attitudes and beliefs of the staff—must be changed in ways that will allow the school to promote educational equality for students from diverse groups. To transform the schools, educators must be knowledgeable about the influence of particular groups on student behavior.\(^{13}\)

Every individual in the eyes of Allah is the same, except the difference is the level of devotion. This is the moral message of multicultural values explicitly and implicitly contained in these kitabs. The purpose of implementing Multicultural Education in pondok pesantren is to be a generation that able to uphold morality, discipline, social care, and honesty in daily behavior. According to Abdullah, the values of Multicultural Education include: democracy, equality, justice, humanity, togetherness, peace, acknowledging differences, accepting differences, and respecting differences. Thus, all attitudes that will be painful, troublesome, detrimental, and damage the relationship between someone and others are prohibited, despite different religions, customs, races, sexes, characters, and social status.
