Liver toxicity: case report

In a multi-institutional, European retrospective study of 56 women treated with systemic treatments from 1999 to 2019, one woman [exact age not stated] was described, who developed grade 3–4 liver toxicity during treatment with trabectedin [dosage and route not stated] for advanced phyllodes tumour of the breast [duration of treatment to reaction onset and outcome not stated].

Palassini E, et al. Systemic treatment in advanced phyllodes tumor of the breast: a multi-institutional European retrospective case-series analyses. Breast Cancer Research and Treatment 192: 603-610, 12 Feb 2022. Available from: URL: http://doi.org/10.1007/s10549-022-06524-4