The event has offered a platform for bringing together students, postdocs, innovative academics and industrial experts to exchange their ideas and contribute new engineering approaches to research mechanical and automation processes in various technological, production and information systems. Great interest was aroused by the section about Cybernetics, Computation and Simulation for Organization of Mechanical Engineering Production.

The Conference provided the premier interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary forum for researchers, practitioners and educators to present and discuss the most recent innovations, trends, concerns, practical challenges encountered and the solutions adopted in the fields of materials sciences, mechanical engineering, aerospace technologies, metallurgy, chemical, ecological and power engineering, cybernetics, data protection in automation systems, etc. The participants who could not come to the Conference due to different reasons including the problem of global cases of COVID-19 prepared video reports and presented on-site presentations which are available on the web-site of the Conference. A wide range of fundamental and applied problems in various production and technological systems has undergone consideration during the video conference.

The Conference also was broadcast in Zoom which allowed participants all over Russia as well as from abroad to participate and make reports as well as to ask and answer questions.

The programme of the Conference included the following 5 sections:

- Material Science and Aerospace Technology
- Mechanical and Automation Engineering for Industry 4.0
- Metallurgy, Chemical, Ecological and Power Engineering
- Processing, Engineering and Applications
- Information Technologies, Reliability and Data Protection in Automation Systems
- Cybernetics, Computation and Simulation for Organization of Mechanical Engineering Production

All participants were invited to present their papers in this Volume and all submitted manuscripts went through the independent peer review process. We are very grateful to all reviewers from Russia, China, USA, Slovenia, Germany, Azerbaijan and Uzbekistan for their time and highly professional comments. We deeply believe that their reviews gave opportunity to improve the scientific quality of the presented papers which may be useful for academic, scientific and industrial partners.

MIP-III-2021 is a highly demanded event among the scientists and specialists with a competitive submission process. More than 500 reports were submitted to the Organizing Committee of the Conference MIP-III-2021. 105 reports were selected for inclusion into this Volume after the review process. All the papers were subjected to rigorous peer-review by conference committee members and international reviewers. The papers were selected based on their quality, novelty, scientific significance and relevance to the Conference directions. The proceedings present to the readers the recent advances in the field of material science, mechanical and automation engineering for industry 4.0, data protection in automation systems, cybernetics, information technologies, chemical, ecological and power engineering. These papers reflect modern engineering approaches in all Conference directions, broaden the researches of the previous Conferences [3, 10].

We chose the IOP Conference Series: Materials Science and Engineering to provide all contributors with the opportunity to publish their papers in an international, peer-reviewed journal. This is understood and appreciated by all the participants of our Conference, and therefore this Volume provides an excellent overview of the main topics of our Conference. The Proceedings of the I Conference MIP: Engineering-2019 were published in IOP Conference Series in June 2019 [3] and the proceedings of the II Conference MIP: Engineering-2020 were published in IOP Conference Series in May 2020 [10].
