I. INTRODUCTION

Cirebon has a potential religious tourist destinations, culture and history. This comes true as Cirebon has a distinctive palace in the form of Kasepuhan Sultanate, Kanoman and Kacirebonan. The three palaces are still keeping the tradition of long ritual activities of the Talisman [2]. Foreign tourists and domestic tourists are quite enthusiastic with religious tourist areas in Cirebon. Foreign tourists are visitors of a place with no purpose to earn an income during the visit. There are two types of travelers based on time limits ie tourists with 12 months visiting time, and travelers with less than 24 hour time visit (www.cirebonkota.bps.go.id, 2017).

According to the Head Disporbudpar (The Department of Culture and Tourism), the number of tourists in Cirebon in 2013 were around 417,000 about 23% of tourist number in the previous year. Overall, local tourists visit for religious tourist destinations or pilgrimage, while others come to Cirebon to transit from long journey [3]. Now, visiting tourists aim not only for religious travel but also for transit. Travelers choose to transit in religious tourit areas. They take a break in the sights while enjoying the beauty of the architects and see the uniqueness of the mosque in Cirebon. The travelers take advantage of the mosque’s tourism function as the most comfortable place to rest, worship, buy, and cleanse [1].

After the roads along the Pantura are well built, the journey from the capital city of Jakarta becomes unhandicapped and quickly toward the cities of Central Java and East Java. One of the religious tourist destinations is the city of Cirebon as it is located very strategically between West Java and Central Java. Cirebon was chosen as a stopover from a long trip while traveling on a religious trip. Moreover, Cirebon is well-known as administrative region with almost perfect tourism programs, especially religious tourist resorts. According to Junaid (2015), the characteristics of tourist destinations are owning tourism products offered, having integrated services which involve individual, community and private / government agencies. Thus, based on these characteristics, Cirebon includes the religious tourist destinations, with its superiority in the form of mosques.

Based on the research results of Hermansyah and Hidayatullah (2016), religious tourist resorts in Cirebon are in the form of mosques about seven mosques such as Panjunan, Cipta Rasa, At Taqwa, Kanoman, Astana Gunung Jati, Megu Gede and Agung Sumber. The seven mosques are unique in the form of architecture such as palace, heirlooms, wells and tombs, for instance: cultural traditions such as Grebeg Maulid, Muharaman, Pajang Jimat, Hadroh [4]. Meanwhile, according to research Tunggadewi (2013) mosque component in the tourist destination of Central Java greatly affect the arrival of tourists, such as Asmaul Husna tower components, Electric Umbrella, gate, building function, mosque roof, mosque roof minaret, plaza, thermal comfort, visual, spatial.

The attractiveness of the mosque as religious tourists resorts are not only from the side of cultural tradition but also because of the uniqueness of architecture and comfort of the mosque. Tourists visit not only for reasons of worship, but also for reasons: (1) something to see; (2) something to do; and (3) something to buy (Manurung, 2014). Based on the interview results with the mosque officials in seven religious tourism destinations Cirebon known that the management of tourist mosques in Cirebon including medium category (Hermansyah and Hidayatullah, 2016). This is because the management of infrastructure facilities owned by the mosque is less than optimal. In fact, the board realizes that the mosque's infrastructure facilities are part of religious tourism that attracted many tourists.

The inability to properly manage religious tourism is a testament to the low ability to take advantage of the growing number of tourists to destinations in Cirebon. This study will explain the phenomenon of religious tourism and its implications for the development of management resources in
