ABSTRACT

Purpose: The media industry is crucial in arranging images and discourses that have an impact on society. Many media companies are relying on social media to power their production and distribution processes. To thrive in a highly competitive world, innovation is seen as a critical component in overcoming the pressures of changing social, economic, and technical conditions. The relationship between management and innovation in the media sector is the primary subject of this research. It represents concerns that have an impact on the organizational structures, strategies, media content, and audience perception. Daijiworld Media is a Mangalore-based Indian media company that specializes in news and entertainment.

Methodology: This is an exploratory study based on primary data, and information is gathered by interviewing officials from Daijiworld, the Daijiworld Website, and news articles.

Findings: Daijiworld Media is a Mangalore-based Indian media company that specializes in news and entertainment services through its website, TV channel, Youtube channel, weekly magazine, audio-visual studio, radio, IT company, and OTT platform. This paper examines the company's evolutionary growth, highlights the company's services and subsidiaries, investigates the company's strengths, weaknesses, challenges, and opportunities, uncovers the company's hiring and training procedures, examines its finance strategy and CSR initiatives, and assesses the impact of COVID on the company.

Research limitations/implications: Complete information or research papers on Daijiworld Pvt Ltd are not available so contacting their multitasking busy officials for more information was little challenging.

Originality/value: This paper focuses on Daijiworld Media Private Ltd a local media and entertainment company.

Paper type: Case Study

Keywords: Sole Proprietorship, Private Limited company, Daijiworld, Media, Consumer, Audiences.
1. INTRODUCTION:

The media industry plays a pivotal role in organizing images and discourses influencing the society. Many media are changing their production and distribution routines through social networks, to thrive in a highly competitive world, the ability to overcome the challenges of changing social, economic, and technological settings is viewed as a vital component of innovation. The relationship between management and innovation in the media sector is the primary subject of this research. It represents concerns that have an impact on strategies, organizational structures, media content, and public perception. Daijiworld Media is a Mangalore-based Indian media company that offers news and entertainment services, including the Website, TV channel, Youtube, weekly magazine, audio-visual studio, radio, IT company, and OTT [1]. On January 14, 2001, Walter Nandalike launched www.daijidubai.com with the primary goal of disseminating news from India's Coastal Konkan region [2]. Walter D'Souza Nandalike is the CEO and Founder of Daijiworld Media Pvt Ltd, a media company based in Mangaluru, Karnataka, India [3]. This website was created by Walter and a group of writers from the Daiji Dubai Writers Forum to promote and exchange knowledge of regional culture and traditions. In Konkani, daiji means relationship. In 2007, it was renamed www.daijiworld.com and transformed into a media corporation [2]. The fruitful 20 years of this company from daijidubai to daijiworld, from daijiworld weekly magazine to audio-visual studio, from TV channel and radio to OTT this way the company has explored the media and entertainment field and tried to cater to different needs of the audience. Daijiworld currently has 1.2 million unique visitors every month, according to estimates from almost 180 different countries. Apart from trustworthy national news, the web has several columns covering Mangalore, Coastal Karnataka, Goa, Mumbai, and the Middle East, including daily news, events, special sections, cookery, and other information [2-4].

2. REVIEW OF LITERATURE:

It is obvious from the review study that appropriative innovation management is imperative for any sector to adapt itself to the changing business environment and the analysis of changing the organizational structure of Daijiworld Company is a typical case study of the problem. Below Table 1 contains the contributions of various researchers on Media and Entertainment.

| S.I | Area                          | Contribution                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Authors                                      |

| 1   | Media and Entertainment Industry | The entertainment industry (also known as "Show Business") is a tertiary sector of the economy that includes sectors like theatre, films, fine arts, dance, music, television, radio, media, sports, cultural events, and so on. This industry is constantly changing as a result of discoveries and ideas. It is growing rapidly in terms of revenue and volume, and it employs both creative and technical staff. It saw rapid growth following liberalization, which resulted in market internationalization and expansion. The evolution, expansion, risks, problems, future trends, and influence of FDI on the Indian entertainment industry are all examined in this paper. This research investigates the influence of internationalization and its possibilities for job creation. | Lobo & Bhat,(2021) [5]                        |
| 2   | Transnational media conglomerates | The purpose of this review article is to obtain a comprehensive understanding of the consequences of transnational media conglomerates' (TNMCs) cross-border activities on cultural integration, exchange, and even some resistance practices in other countries. As a result, cross-border mobility of TNMCs would, to some extent, produce tension between local traditional culture and the trend of cultural homogenization. Still, different regions have different attitudes and adjustment strategies in response to the crisis, and they are attempting to export their values while profiting from it. | Liu., et al (2021) [6]                       |
The purpose of this research is to convey information concerning the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the media and entertainment industries. COVID-19- National shutdowns have had a profound impact on all sectors of the economy including the media sector.

Impact of COVID on the Media industry

New media – economic crisis

According to this study, many media organizations rely on advertising revenue to survive, as a result, the media outlet could be influenced by corporate interests. The media behemoths benefit greatly from the current global social system and the survival of small media enterprises is challenging which forces them to merge and consolidate their ownership.

Mergers and ownership of media conglomerates

The article demonstrates how media ownership evolved from media properties serving as a platform for personal and business interests to conglomerates seeking economic "synergies" of performance to a third stage driven by financial portfolio diversification. These periods of foreign ownership of the media coincide with the country's economic development.

A case study on The sony corporation

This article examines Sony Corporation, a large multinational media conglomerate focused on electronics, entertainment, music, and gaming technologies. This study delves into the history and development of the Sony Corporation. According to this study, a company's business strategy and corporate culture are often a direct reflection of the organization's growth and it also studies the company from the standpoint of corporate strategy. Special attention is paid to the concept of organizational culture.

3. RESEARCH AGENDA:

This study focuses on Daijiworld Media Private Limited, one of Mangalore's largest media conglomerates. This paper analyses the company's growth, strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and challenges, the impact of COVID, and the company’s long-term goals.

4. RESEARCH GAP:

The literature review on the media industry has several gaps for research, one of the major missing from the related works of literature was a concrete study on Local Media Conglomerates. This research is vital because we need to know the challenges faced by local media conglomerates for survival and growth.

5. OBJECTIVES:

The aims of the study are mentioned below.
1. To study the evolutionary growth of Daijiworld Media Private Limited.
2. To highlight the services and subsidiaries of Daijiworld Media Private Limited.
3. To explore the strengths, weaknesses, challenges, and opportunities.
4. To find the hiring and training procedures.
5. To study their finance strategy and CSR initiatives.
6. To assess the impact of COVID on the company.

6. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY:

This is an exploratory study based on primary data, and information is gathered by interviewing officials from Daijiworld, the Daijiworld website, and news articles.

7. HISTORY AND GROWTH:

On April 1st, 2000, a young man messaged his pals to tell them that he had launched a website called daijidubai.com, and his friends responded that they couldn't open it. It was supposed to be an April Fool joke, but the young man was so taken aback by the response that he decided to launch a real website and this young man is Mr. Walter Nandalike, the brain behind and founder of the company, daijiworld.com (then called daijidubai.com). Mr. Walter took initiative and with a lot of dedication acquired computer knowledge and spent months perfecting the skills, which was a revolution in the field of journalism in the coastal region of Karnataka [2][12].

It became a media firm in March 2007 under the name Daijiworld Media Pvt Ltd. Daijiworld operates the Daijiworld TV channel, which is available 24 x 7. On May 9th, a test transmission was broadcast, and on June 16th, it began airing across coastal Karnataka via cable network and set-top boxes. The TV channel can also be accessed over the Internet and as an Android and iOS app. Daijiworld Weekly, an English-language weekly, is also published by the company [2][12].

An exclusive office in Kankanady, Mangalore, was established to meet the rising demand for news from India by NRIs, with 40 correspondents scattered over the twin districts of Dakshina Kannada and Udupi. Daijiworld went a step further and launched an office in Udupi on July 18, 2008. Daijiworld. In May 2009, Daijiworld launched Daijiworld Weekly, an English weekly newspaper, under the aegis of a new company called Daijiworld Publications Pvt Ltd. [2][12].

On the 20th anniversary of Daijiworld.com, Daijiworld and ATC Online have collaborated to develop the LOCAL WOOD OTT platform. The purpose of this OTT network is to stream local-language content including Tulu, Beary, Konkani, Kannada movies, and amusement videos in their native languages [12].

8. THE COMPANY'S SUBSIDIARIES AND SERVICES:

Daijiworld operates from 6 different locations Mangalore, Udupi, Kasargod, Bangalore, Mumbai, and Dubai but their offices are only in Mangalore and Udupi and the representatives work independently from other locations.

10. HIRING AND TRAINING:

Growth is based on activities. It takes sweat, commitment, and hard efforts of the workforce to turn a dream into reality. Therefore, a workforce plays a very important role in an organization. Daijiworld Pvt Ltd has a skillful, efficient, and multitasking workforce (both permanent and contract basis) of around sixty employees assisting the company from different locations. If there is a vacancy, the information and advertisement will be posted on social media, after which the HR Manager will screen the applications and interview the candidates who have been chosen (mostly freshers and candidates okay with flexible hours will be preferred). Six months of training will be provided, along with a basic stipend and housing. One month's notice is required. If the employee wants to leave the company.

11. FINANCIAL ACTIVITIES AND CSR INITIATIVES:

Financials are defined as money management and include activities such as investment, borrowing, lending, budgeting, saving, and forecasting. Media companies often behave as non-profit organizations because their primary goal is to serve, inform, and educate society. The channel pays a large fee to cable operators to be included on their network, and advertisements are their primary source of revenue. They now earn money through social media as well, thanks to technological advancements and digitization [28]. Daijiworld Pvt Limited pays a large sum to the local cable operators, and their main source of revenue are advertisements along with studio, social media platforms like YouTube, FB, and now OTT subscription fees. If the company's income is insufficient to cover all of the expenses, the directors borrow money from their personal accounts [29][30].

Daijiworld Pvt Ltd has acted as a link between contributors and the needy by posting their brief articles and videos on their websites and other social media platforms, allowing contributors to directly help them using the needy's bank account information. During these 20 years, Daijiworld Pvt Ltd has dispensed more than 22 crores to the needy through the donors, with approximately 500 members benefiting to date; they also aim to raise public awareness on various issues related to health, laws, and other public issues through their programs and media coverage, to fix the issues and work for the betterment of society.

12. IMPACT OF COVID ON DAIJIWORLD PVT LTD:

Consumers, businesses, and communities all across the world have been affected by the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak, which has caused widespread fear and economic hardship [31]. It's been almost a year since the COVID-19 outbreak wreaked havoc on the world's businesses. Organizations, including the media sector, must rethink how they operate. We must also recognize that, while most businesses are beginning to recover from this unanticipated catastrophe, the media industry still has a long way to go. COVID-19, like every other tragic disaster, has drawn attention to the media's role in public life. Traditional media witnessed an unexpected increase in viewing, despite decreasing ad revenue and a lack of fresh content, while digital media saw an increase in subscriptions [32]. Netflix, for example, received 16 million new subscribers during the lockdown. The new routine also changed the audience's consumption habits. During the lockdown, people experimented with new mediums and genres, as well as other types of information, influencing their choices and consumption patterns. As in prior crises, the need to stay informed and entertained has increased the demand for and consumption of information, and this trend is expected to continue [33][34].

The pandemic has resulted in several changes in Daijiworld Pvt Ltd, both positive and negative. Some negative effects include the closure of Daijiworld Publications Ltd and the closure of Daijiworld Technologies Pvt Ltd in Chennai, as well as staff reductions. Some positive effects include the creation of a variety of crowd-engaging, entertaining, and informative content such as informative programmes, virtual live shows, online singing competitions, and the introduction of the OTT platform LOCALWOOD.

13. FINDINGS:

Daijiworld Media is a Mangalore-based Indian media company that produces news and entertainment services through its website, TV channel, Youtube channel, weekly magazine, audio-visual studio, radio, IT company, and over-the-top (OTT) services. From daijidubai to daijiworld, from daijiworld weekly magazine to audio-visual studio, from tv channel and radio to OTT, this company has analyzed the media and entertainment field and attempted to cater to various consumer demands during its 20-year history. The news on daijiworld is accurate, verifiable, and timely. It has content in all local languages to reach out to a wider range of audiences. They host different reality shows and help in the exposure of local talents. They constantly strive to come up with innovative concepts and content. Their long-term goal is to open offices in Puttur and Kasargod, as well as settle the financials with their OTT service providers and fully own it.

14. SUGGESTIONS:
Daijiworld Media Private Ltd is constantly striving to improve and adapt to market developments to be competitive. They can introduce a variety of reality shows and other content based on public interest, they can use various platforms to reach out to the audience, they can provide a diverse range of programs for different age groups, particularly for children’s entertainment, and they can work to protect and preserve the environment.

15. CONCLUSION:
Daijiworld Media is an Indian media firm situated in Mangalore that delivers news and entertainment through its website, TV channel, Youtube channel, weekly magazine, audio-visual studio, radio, information technology company, and over-the-top (OTT) services. Throughout its 20-year history, this organisation has analysed the media and entertainment field and endeavoured to respond to diverse customer expectations, from daijdubai to daijiworld, from daijiworld monthly magazine to audio-visual studio, from tv channel and radio to OTT. Wishing Daijiworld Pvt Ltd many more successful years, and may the firm grow in the years ahead, educating and entertaining people throughout the world.
