1. INTRODUCTION

Islam is a religion that upholds the value of work. In the Islamic view, work is worship and a way to get closer to Allah SWT. Work is natural and at the same time one of the human identities, so that work based on the principles of faith and monotheism, not only shows the nature of a Muslim but also elevates the dignity of being a servant of Allah. If work is human nature, then it is clear that humans are reluctant to work, lazy, and do not want to use their full potential to express faith in the form of creative deeds (Tasmara, 1995). Work ethics can be interpreted as values or habits that must be carried out by a person while in the work environment. Rasulullah SAW was used as a role model by Muslims because of his very noble character and character. This is following the word of Allah SWT which is written in the Qur'an in Surah Al-Ahzab verse 21. In the Islamic view, work is an inseparable unity, starting from the intention to work, which is not only seeking the abundance of material in the world but also looking for a reward to be respected later. This intention will correlate with the efforts made by an individual (Amaliah et al. 2013). Islam does not only tell its people to work hard without being followed by various safeguards in the form of moral values, namely morals or ethics. This morality can deliver various professions safely to their goal of sincere worship (Hidayat, 2006). When someone understands religious values at work, this will be reflected in their behavior at work and make an individual who has the best performance achievement. In its work as the first General Sharia Insurance in Indonesia, PT Asuransi Takaful Umum has had experience in its field for approximately 20 years with branch offices spread across Indonesia. It is proven by the abundance of experience PT Asuransi Takaful Umum has a very good corporate financial health with a very large solvency ratio. Where the solvency ratio is an ability to fulfill obligations to its customers or as a company's ability to meet insurance claims coverage submitted by customers. Regarding the financial statements in 2020, PT Asuransi Takaful Umum is proven to have a company fund solvency ratio of 2028% and higher than the government provisions contained in financial Services Authority Regulation Number 72 / Pojk.05/2016 concerning the Financial Health of Insurance Companies and Reinsurance Companies with Sharia Principles. The Government has determined that the Solvency Ratio of an Insurance Company is required to have a minimum of 120% of company funds. PT Asuransi Takaful Umum also has a solvency ratio of tabarru 'and land funds of 836 billion and total assets of 62 billion.
2. LITERATURE REVIEW

Ethics comes from Greek, namely, ethos, which means something that is believed, how to act, attitudes, and perceptions of work values. From this word was born what is called ethics, namely guidelines, morals, and behavior or also known as etiquette which means polite manner (Tasmara, 1995). Whereas work is all dynamic activities and has the goal of fulfilling certain needs (physical and spiritual) and in achieving these goals he tries with full sincerity to achieve optimal performance as proof of his dedication to Allah SWT (Tasmara, 1995). According to Tasmara (1995) states that work ethic is his personality and a way of expressing, seeing, believing, and giving meaning to something, which encourages him to act and achieve optimal charity. Many factors can affect a person's work ethic. Islamic work ethic is essentially part of the Islamic concept of humans because work ethics is part of the process of human existence in a very broad and complex field of life. Work ethics are the values that shape a person's personality at work. Work ethics are essentially shaped and influenced by the value system that a person adopts at work. Which then forms a spirit that differentiates it from one another. Thus, Islamic work ethics is a personal reflection of a Khalifah who works based on his conceptual abilities who are creative and innovative (Azizi, 2005).
