INTRODUCTION

This research seeks to analyse best practices from the character building of school culture based students in Senior High School of Panca Budi Medan. The basic assumption behind this research departs from the failure of the school's formal education in implementing the values of character education to learners who have an impact on the low moral quality of the nation's children. Declining moral quality in recent years can be proved by the news that many are talked about on television, newspapers, social media, and various other media concerning the moral deviations of students who are very concern.

Case-by-case demoralization that occurs among students such as brawl, free association, drugs, beating teachers, bullying, and other negative behaviors is made to us that there is a need for improvement in the system of Students in the school's formal education. The following is presented by one of the delinquency of teenagers occurring in Indonesia, which is a free sex behavior that has been increasingly rampant in some major cities in Indonesia. Among them Jakarta 58%, in
From the example data of adolescent delinquency that the status of the student can prove that there has been a moral shift in our country. The moral crisis that Indonesia has experienced today is at a very alarming point, such as, honesty, polite, genuine nature, and the instantaneous responsibility is replaced with immoral values. Therefore, juvenile delinquency is a weak indicator of the character education in Indonesia, where education is an important factor in building moral fortresses and national characters.

Said Agil Husein In response to the phenomenon of moral crisis with the view that today the world of education is facing severe examinations and challenges because education is the most important factor in preparing qualified human resources and Immoral. Educational thinkers call for sensible intelligence to be followed by moral intelligence [2].

Education not only relies on, prioritizing achievement and transferring a number of sciences, but education is very important in developing the discipline and planting of students’ personality values. So that resulted from the school system to be human that has a good character.

Character education is a national movement to create a school that builds a young generation that is ethical, responsible, and caring for others. Character education is also not merely to teach which is true and which is wrong but to educate children to make decisions wisely and to practice in everyday life, so that they can give Positive contribution to society [3].

The development of character values in students must be through examples and in the surroundings. If there is good communication between the family, school and community, it will make it easier to develop the character in the child, because the child character can be formed by habituation, direction, research, coaching, and Supportive environment. Therefore, planting or character education for children becomes very important.

In order for learners to have a noble character according to religious norms, laws, manners, cultures, and customs, therefore, the school is required to play a more adequate role and responsibility to embed, develop, build, and Help students shape their character with good value [4].

One of the scopes of character education that greatly supports the implementation of character education progress is the school culture [5]. The school culture is built to create and embed character values for all the citizens of the school, including creating a character education program or policy, forming a school culture, and communicate it to all of the school, maintaining character values, and respecting the achievement of each party in the school.

School culture strongly supports the success of character education programs. However, not all school cultures support achieving maximum character education. Because a negative culture in school culture can impede the implementation of character education in schools such as the number of empty hours, disobedient in the execution of the code of conduct, and so on. This suggests that school culture has a major influence on the character building process of students.

It is understandable that character education also has a role to be part of shaping the school culture. Therefore, the establishment of student character through school culture becomes absolutely needed by the school to create a conducive school culture and facilitate the planting of character values in the students. The process becomes more effective when it is applied to individual students, because it is necessary as a foundation of the student's character in the future later.

Thus, the stimulus in the form of habitation to be honest will result in the honesty responses of the students who become their characters.

c. Clean and energy-efficient culture

Amidst the problems of the world today that require solving in overcoming the destruction of the environment and the energy crisis, it takes the real action of every human being who lives on this earth to do something so that our earth return to draw, Beautiful and sustainable.

At the University of Panca Budi early learners have been taught to love the environment. The students from Kindergarten, Elementary, Junior High School and Vocational High School, and all the community of Panca Budi Campus together maintain the environment through the implementation program of Clean Culture Civilization (PANDABSIH) and the application of energy efficient culture (BUDABHE).

The culture of living clean and energy saving is a fundamental value and attitude of attention, maintaining and proactive to the conditions or circumstances around us especially in schools. The Program of Clean Cultural Civilization (PANDABSIH) and the civilization of Energy saving Cultures (BUDABHE) is an example of the real effort of the school inviting students to love the environment. d. Cultural discipline

Discipline is an act that demonstrates orderly behavior and is obedient to various provisions and rules. A process of education will not succeed if there is no application of discipline to the students. Few schools have managed to run discipline. The fact can be seen through the environment portraits of schools that are not clean, students who love to smoke, and students brawl. All of these mirror behaviors are not disciplined and uncultured. If so happens, school is hard to be the place where generations are well-behaved and accomplished.

Senior High School of Panca Budi is one of the private schools in Medan that is quite famous because of its efficacy. From the beginning, Senior High School of Panca Budi students have been introduced to the school environment that respects and uphold discipline. Panca Budi saw that school discipline is a prerequisite for the creation of an educational environment conducive to educational activities and processes. From this disciplined habitation, the students will get a lot of character values in which they are the character values of responsibility, independent, and the value of the character discipline itself. Each point of the order must be socialized in the students, so that they understand why a rule was made, 3) the creation of the example from above. The Supporting Factor of Students' Character Formation in School Culture Based in Senior High School of Panca Budi

Analysis of supporting factors and inhibiting the formation of character-based school culture in the HIGH School of Panca Budi Medan. In the process of character building based on school culture, there are many obstacles and things that become supporting in the process. The following will be explained about the factors that are supporting and inhibiting the formation of culture-based character in Panca Budi High School, namely:

1. Supporting Factors

   a. Family factors (parents)
      The role of parents is an important factor to always remind and invite his child to familiarize all good practices that contain the values of character formation in school to always be done when the child is at home. As a parent invites his son to pray in congregation, and the parents always remind the child to say honestly, and familiarize themselves with a clean lifestyle. In addition, parents want to receive any report of good or bad about the development of his son during the learning process in school.

   b. Teacher factors
      Teacher involvement in character building efforts in high school students Panca Budi is seen in the intensive mentoring of teachers in every activity performed by learners. By providing guidance and direction and transparency, both in the process of learning to teach in the class and after. The mentoring of teachers in each activity is very influential in shaping the character of students in the cultural frame of school. If there is a student behaviour that does not match the values and characters, the teacher will rebuke, and provide direction with the expectations of learners afterwards can immediately improve their behavior.

   c. Environmental factors
      These environmental factors include the school environment and the community. The school always conducts school environment engineering that is conducive by all staff in the school. As in the implementation, every morning before entering class, the school through the teachers welcomed the arrival of students with a prayer named Ahlan wa Sahlan program. In addition, the school environment is also laid out neatly and cleanly so that it stimulates students to behave in a clean life and does not throw junk. In addition, the community is also a contributing factor in the formation of student characters. Some students are in a community that is in line with the values and cultures gained in the school so that the characters in the students can be easily formed and internalized in daily life.

   d. Learners' factors
      The high enthusiasm and curiosity of the learners in understanding the importance of the character value inherent in every good practice and being a culture in school is a positive energy in character building. This situation will turn around if there is no desire of students and what educators and schools have undertaken will feel useless. This can be seen from the enthusiasm of learners while following the learning process in class and participating in every activity outside the classroom that is a culture in the school.

2. Inhibitory factor

   Some of the inhibitory factors in the formation of cultural-based characters also arise from the same factors of supporting. The factors that impede in the process of establishing a culture-based character at Senior High School of Panca Budi:

   a. Family factors
      The family factor is primarily an elderly person who is too busy working, so that the supervision and interaction that parents do to the child is increasingly minimal, this causes the good character that is done by the child in school is less workable in Child's life at home. In this case, the elderly are difficult to become exemplary figures for their children. In addition, there are also families who have fully provided children's education in school without the need to correct or implement the educational values of children's characters when at home. For that, parents should immediately improve their interactions with their children in a better way and demonstrate a gentle attitude to the child.

   b. Teacher factors
      The role of educators at Senior High School of Panca Budi as a transfer of value occupies the main thing. But there are a still educator who cannot be exemplary in implementing good habits in their daily behavior while in school is an obstacle. Like teachers who do not pray with students in the mosque, teachers who are less concerned with hygiene. It is also found that teachers use loud and abusive way when rebuke the wrong learners. So the emotions and patience of educators should be completely laid out, because the pediener face a lot of students and have a diversity of both in terms of psychology, intelligence and emotion.

c. Environmental factors
Less conducive environmental factors become a barrier in the formation of students’ character and good cultural habituation. The living environment of the learners is partially living housing that is individualist and a free community environment in social relations. In addition, there is an area in the school environment that has not been neatly arranged such as trees that are too far from the leaves to contaminate the area when the leaves fall.

d. Student factors
The cognitive and emotional development of Senior High School of students Panca Budi is an obstacle in the process of character building in the school culture frame. Children who have above average intelligence will readily receive and understand every material and direction provided by educators. So that from this understanding makes it easy for learners to internalize any given material and direction and vice versa. The emotional development of learners who have realized his or her egocentricity has made an obstacle for educators at Senior High School of Panca Budi. This leads to a stunted character formation process, due to the egocentric nature of learners who always wanted to be ahead and wanted to always be noticed by educators, resulting in fights for some learners. Therefore, there needs to be an intense monitoring and thoughtful attitude from educators. In addition, not all student behavior can be detected by educators. Because the number of learners in Senior High School of Panca Budi more than his teachers. Therefore, if there are learners who do some poor attitudes there is nothing that reminds him directly firmly. Based on the explanation above, there is a supporting factor in the establishment of a student-based school culture in Senior High School of Panca Budi. Thus, to reduce these barriers, there is a harmonious synergy of all those who surround the students. It aims to improve the quality of education and so urging the improvement of character for our nation.
