Corrigendum

Type II restriction endonucleases — a historical perspective and more

Alfred Pingoud¹,†, Geoffrey G. Wilson²,,† and Wolfgang Wende¹,

¹Institute of Biochemistry, Justus-Liebig-University Giessen, Heinrich-Buff-Ring 58, D-35392 Giessen, Germany and
²New England Biolabs Inc., 240 County Road, Ipswich, MA 01938–2723, USA

Nucl. Acids Res. 42 (12): 7489–7527. doi: 10.1093/nar/gku447

The authors wish to correct reference 228 from:

228. Naito T., Kobayashi I. Cell death programmed by selfish genes—or, why are there restriction enzymes. Jikken Igaku
1995;13:1444–1447.

To

228. Naito T., Kusano K., Kobayashi I. Selfish behavior of restriction-modification systems. Science 1995;267:897–899.