2. LITERATURE REVIEW

In the work of Mass mobilization (Dan Van) written on October 15, 1949, President Ho Chi Minh introduced the concept “Mass mobilization”. “Mass mobilization” is to mobilize every capability of each person without leaving anyone behind, to create the all-people force to execute the work that should be done or was entrusted by the government and the unions” [2].

Applying Ho Chi Minh’s ideology to the current innovation cause, it can be understood that mass mobilization work includes propaganda, advocacy, education, and persuading the people to well implement guidelines of the Party, policies, and laws of the state. It aims to gather and organize the people to participate in revolutionary movements to build a rich society, a strong country, with democracy, justice, and civilization.
The Role of the Government’s Mass Mobilization in Stabilizing the People's Situation in the Districts of Ho Chi Minh City Today

Government’s mobilization is all activities of the Party and the government, organizations in the political system under the leadership of the Party to propagate, educate, mobilize, persuade and organize all the people to well implement the Party's undertakings and guidelines, the State's policies and laws, bringing into play the people's role and great potentials in the cause of national construction and defense, successfully implementing the goals, ideal of the Party. The resolution of the 12th National Congress of the Party has determined to ensure that the people can participate in all stages of the decision-making process related to their interests and lives. They can raise their ideas, participate in discussions, debate to monitor the implementation process.

3. RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

3.1. The role of mass mobilization work in promoting the role of the People in the districts of Ho Chi Minh City.

The revolution is not the work of an individual, a group of people, but the work of the entire people. The importance of mass mobilization work has been proved by the historical practice of the Vietnamese revolution. In the infancy of the revolution, most of the Party's cadres and members were close to the people. In his life, Lenin once warned of two risks of the ruling Communist Party, which were mistakes in the way and remaining aloof from the masses. Mass mobilization work contributes to strengthening the close relationship between the Party and the people. The 6th National Congress of the Party gave 4 profound lessons, of which, the first lesson was "in all its activities, the Party must grasp the idea of “taking the people as the root”. The 10th National Congress of the Party also affirmed: “The trust, support, and help of the people are the source of strength, the cause of all victories and the Party’s valuable asset [3]. The 11th National Congress of the Party summarized 5 great lessons, of which the second one continued to affirm: The cause of the revolution is of the people, by the people, and for the people. It is the people that make the innovation victories.

The government’s mass mobilization plays an important part in enlightening, gathering, and attracting the masses of people into a great force and power to realize the goals of the country. Currently, the role of mass mobilization in the development of people's lives in the districts of Ho Chi Minh City is shown as follows:

Socio-economic, political, cultural, and social development of Ho Chi Minh City's districts for the five years 2016-2020 takes place in the context of the region and the world having both advantages and disadvantages. In particular, in the last year of the 5-year plan period 2016 - 2020, the Covid-19 pandemic, unprecedented for decades globally, has a very serious impact; the world economy falls into a recession. The consequences may last for many years. However, there are many changes in the situation of people in the districts of Ho Chi Minh City, as follows:
The Role of the Government’s Mass Mobilization in Stabilizing the People's Situation in the Districts of Ho Chi Minh City Today

Chart 2.1. Evaluation of economic, political, cultural, and social activities compared to the previous 5 years in the districts of Ho Chi Minh city:

The proportion of the people, civil servants, and public employees said that it is better than before is almost 93.9% compared with indicators 1 and 2.

Considering social groups, it shows that people's perceptions also have many different changes in economic, political, cultural, and social activities compared to 5 years ago in the districts of Ho Chi Minh City today.

3.3. Limitations

Along with the achievements, there are pressing problems emerging among the people in the districts of Ho Chi Minh City that need to be addressed. The lives of most migrants into the city face many difficulties, deprivations, and declines, especially for employees, salaried workers and retirees, lonely and helpless people.

The situation of corruption, waste, bureaucracy, arrogance, authoritarianism, harassment on the part of public officials and civil servants has not been prevented or repelled, causing frustration among the people. Organized crime, robbery, theft, fraud, and "gangster" gangs are strongly active in some places; social evils are increasingly complicated, threatening people's lives. The awareness of abiding by the Traffic Law of many people is still very poor; traffic accidents increased, causing the people's worries. The rich and poor differentiation among the population has increased and tends to be further and further away. The environment is increasingly polluted. Recently, the rapid increase in commodity prices has made it difficult to meet the essential needs of people's lives, especially in education and medical examination and treatment.

Over the past few years, religions have adjusted, adapted, and expanded the forms of religious activities to attract non-believers. Some religious dignitaries have carried out activities that are not under the law, deceived, and incited a part of parishioners to oppose the government, badly affecting the Party committees and authorities in Ho Chi Minh City.

Table 2.3. The pressing issues are emerging in the districts of Ho Chi Minh city.

| Total             | 492   | 100.0 |

Table 2.3 shows that out of 21 indicators in urban districts, 9 pressing indicators emerged as big concerns in the districts of Ho Chi Minh city (indicators 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 16, 17, and 18). Presently, in indicator 5, urban flooding indicator, the people and officials think it is the most pressing issue, accounting for 78.0%. It is followed by indicator 6, environmental pollution, representing 76.8%. Food safety salary, income, rising prices, social evils, crime, and traffic accidents are also being paid attention to by the people, officials, and employees. The operation of religious issues has gone into order, operating by law accounts for 19.7%. Vaccination for children has been well implemented in these areas, showing the attention of the government to future generations.

Many achievements have been made in resolving the problems of the people in the districts. Of which, the government’s mass mobilization in these districts has been relatively well implemented. Is it because of improving the efficiency of the mobilization of the entire political system in the new situation, renewing the contents and modes of mass mobilization of the Front and mass organizations attractively and necessarily to improve the quality and efficiency of social supervision and criticism.

Chart 2.2. Citizen's assessment of pressing issues resolved by district authorities in Ho Chi Minh City
