Systematic Review Search Methods

All search strategies and written methodology were created using the standards and guidelines for conducting and reporting systematic reviews set forth by the Preferred Reporting Items for Systematic Reviews and Meta-Analyses (PRISMA), the National Academies (IOM) Standards for Systematic Reviews, the Cochrane Handbook of Systematic reviews, and Peer Review of Systematic Search Strategies (PRESS). In accordance with these guidelines, the following items are included in this document:

- Fully reproducible search strategies for each database searched.
- A written methodology section explaining how the search was created and designed.

The methodology text can be copy/pasted verbatim into the manuscript when preparing for publication of this project, and the fully reproducible search strategies for each database can be included as supplementary materials / appendix items of the written article.

The contents of this document are the intellectual property of the creators, and any publication of these materials should accompany their co-authorship on the publication in question. A medical librarian searched the literature for records including the concepts of refugees, asylum seekers, displaced persons, low and middle income countries, mental health, psychosocial support, trained teachers, and community health workers. The librarian created search strategies using a combination of keywords and controlled vocabulary in Embase.com 1947- , Ovid Medline 1946- , Scopus 1823- , Cochrane Central Register of Controlled Trials (CENTRAL), the Cumulative Index of Nursing and Allied Health Literature (CINAHL Plus) 1937 - , Ebsco Global Health 1973 - , and Ebsco APA PsycINFO 1600s - . All search strategies were completed February 18, 2020 with no added filters or limits to find a total of 268 results. 91 duplicate records were deleted after using the de-duplication processes described in “De-duplication of database search results for systematic reviews in EndNote,” (Bramer, Giustini, de Jonge, Holland, & Bekhuis, 2016) resulting in a total of 177 unique citations included in the project library. Fully reproducible search strategies for each database can be found in the appendix.
