Novel Mineralized Electrospun Chitosan/PVA/TiO$_2$ Nanofibrous Composites for Potential Biomedical Applications: Computational and Experimental Insights

Walaa A. Abbas,$^a$ Icell M. Sharafeldin,$^a$ Mostafa M. Omar,$^a$ and Nageh K. Allam $^a$

$^a$Energy Materials Laboratory (EML), School of Sciences and Engineering (SSE), The American University in Cairo (AUC), New Cairo 11835, Egypt.

*Corresponding Author: nageh.allam@aucegypt.edu

Figure S1. (a) The PVA to Cs ratio 9:1 (w/w) and (b) the PVA:Cs ratio 8:2 (w/w) with the drawbacks of the nanofibers.
Figure S2. The PC and TCP nanofibrous materials and their nanofibers diameter size that represented by the histogram.