Electronic signals are electrogenetically relayed to control cell growth and co-culture composition.

| Title                        | Electronic signals are electrogenetically relayed to control cell growth and co-culture composition. |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Publication Type             | Journal Article                                                                                     |
| Year of Publication          | 2021                                                                                                |
| Authors                      | Stephens, K, Zakaria, FRahma, VanArsdale, E, Payne, GF, Bentley, W                                  |
| Journal                      | Metab Eng Commun                                                                                   |
| Volume                       | 13                                                                                                   |
| Pagination                   | e00176                                                                                               |
| Date Published               | 2021 Dec                                                                                             |
| ISSN                         | 2214-0301                                                                                            |
| Abstract                     | There is much to be gained by enabling electronic interrogation and control of biological function. |
| DOI                          | 10.1016/j.mec.2021.e00176                                                                          |
| Alternate Journal            | Metab Eng Commun                                                                                   |
| PubMed ID                    | 34194997                                                                                            |
| PubMed Central ID            | PMC8233222                                                                                          |