In the article by Baio et al, A Hyper-Crosslinked Carbohydrate Polymer Scaffold Facilitates Lineage Commitment and Maintains a Reserve Pool of Proliferating Cardiovascular Progenitors, published April 13, 2017, an incorrect reference citation appeared on page 2, line 20. Reference number 4 in the following sentence should have been reference number 11. The corrected passage appears below:

Godier-Furnémont et al,11 used MSCs in 1 such study.

Furthermore, the article has been updated online with high-resolution color figures.

REFERENCE

Baio JM, Walden RC, Fuentes TI, et al. A hyper-crosslinked carbohydrate polymer scaffold facilitates lineage commitment and maintains a reserve pool of proliferating cardiovascular progenitors. Transplantation Direct. 2017;3:e153; doi: 10.1097/TXD.0000000000000667.