Program Description

This workshop will explore social determinants of health (SDOH), highlighting what is known about the impact of these macro-level issues on health outcomes. Issues to be addressed include health literacy, the impact of social disenfranchisement, and understanding social capital. The workshop presents options for community-level interventions to address social determinants, and invites participants to explore strategies in individual encounters to maintain mindfulness of these important issues.

Target Audience

This program has been planned for Alliance Healthcare staff and providers of mental health, I/DD, and substance abuse services.

Objectives

Upon conclusion of this program participants should be able to:
- Identify at least 4 key social determinants of health and the impact on health-seeking and health outcomes;
- Name at least 5 successful community-level strategies to address SDOH;
- List at least 4 implications of SDOH on health outcomes; and
- Identify at least 3 strategies that individual providers can employ to address the impact of SDOH in their one-on-one encounters with consumers.

Cost: Free

This training is sponsored by Alliance Health, and registration is restricted to their staff and providers. The fee for Alliance Health contracted providers is $40; there is no fee for Alliance Health staff.

Speaker

James Sacco, MSW is a consultant and educator who has provided training and consultation to a wide range of academic, governmental, and community-based organizations, on HIV prevention and care, women’s health, addictions, and a broad range of mental health topics.
