How to use
Mía by XytoTest®

1. Verify that the barcode on the test tube matches both the barcode on the Consent Form and the barcode on the security envelope where the sample will be transported.

2. Complete all the fields of the informed consent.

3. Wash your hands and / or put on gloves before using the device Mía by XytoTest®.

4. Take out the device Mía by XytoTest® opening and discarding the cellophane packaging that covers it. Remove the protective cap from the device and throw it away.

5. The person who is going to take the sample must be in a gynecological position, that is, lying on their back and with their legs bent.

6. Spread the labia with one hand and carefully insert the device into the vaginal canal with the other until the lower flap of the device makes contact with the skin. Once the device is inserted, rotate it three times (360 °) in the same direction.

7. Carefully remove the device from the vaginal canal and immediately insert into the cylinder included in the Xytotest® kit.

8. Make sure to close the tube correctly and insert it together with the Consent Form in the security bag. Deliver the sample as soon as possible for analysis according to the logistics system indicated by the laboratory.
