Contents of tasks and key indicators for re-evaluation and the terms of their execution should be determined depending on the established date of such evaluation. In case a civil servant receives a negative assessment, the conclusion may be appealed by this civil servant.

There are some prerequisites for evaluation of a civil servant performance: typical professional qualifications characteristics of civil service positions; job responsibilities set out in job descriptions to describe the requirements of the position; evaluation criteria, for which assessment is carried out; formal and informal subjects of evaluation; transparency and accessibility of established evaluation procedures and methods; mechanisms of evaluation results application.

The Procedure for evaluating the results of official activities of civil servants is approved by a specially authorized central executive body for civil service.

If a civil servant receives a positive assessment of his/her official activity results, it is the basis for the award of departmental incentives honors; promotion; other incentives.

If a civil servant receives an excellent assessment of his/her official activity results, it is the basis for annual bonuses; appropriation ahead of schedule of the next rank; promotion; petition for honors encouragement of other public authorities and state awards; others incentives. The results of the evaluation may be grounds for improvement of professional competence level of the civil servant.

5. Conclusions

Despite the amendments to the Law of Ukraine “On Civil Service” and the Procedure for evaluation of civil servants performance results, some issues remain unresolved, e. g., appeal of the results of evaluation of the activity of a civil servant holding civil service positions of category “B” and “C”, which indicates an indefinite algorithm of actions of a civil servant to appeal a negative assessment, as well as an indefinite algorithm of actions of the entity of appointment (head of civil service) in case of appeal by the civil servant of the received negative estimation from the moment of its statement by the direct head and until the moment of approval of the conclusion by the entity of appointment. Moreover, the procedure for dismissal of a civil servant in case of negative assessment based on the results of evaluation of his/her activities is unclear.

Prospects for research in this area deals with a need for additional elaboration at the legislative level and, as a consequence, making appropriate changes to the Law of Ukraine “On Civil Service” and the “Procedure for evaluation of civil servants performance results”.
