Ongoing research using the same valve model is investigating crimpling to 6 mm using axial displacement of a sheath as illustrated in Fig. A.

Fig. A Crimping/retrieval of a complete self-expanding aortic heart valve

Fig. B View from above illustrating the folding pattern in the leaflets following axial crimping through a sheath.