INTRODUCTION
The dictionary work «Asosu-l-balogs‘a», that is, «Balog‘at asoslari» (the basis of speaking in delicate way) plays an essential role in the scientific heritage of Makmud Zamaxshar‘i. The dictionary is important not only in this well-known scientist’s works relate to dictionary compiling, but also the whole Arabic dictionary science. According to the academic A. Rustamov, Makmud Zamaxshar‘i contributed considerably to develop Arabic dictionary compiling by this work[1]. Another scholar Khusayn Nassor says that Makmud Zamaxshar‘i became the founder of forth of Arabic dictionary compiling school with «Asosu-l-balogs‘a».

METHODOLOGY
The study was conducted using objectivity, analysis, synthesis, comparative analysis, generalization, historical analysis, chronological methods.

RESULTS
The main reason of such high evaluation of «Asosu-l-balogs‘a» by linguists, historians and great scholars of oriental sciences is creations of some new findings in lexicography by Makmud Zamaxshar‘i.

The successful point of Mahmud Zamakhshar‘i in the dictionary is that the sequence of dictionary articles were placed in a strict alphabetical order, taking into account all their root consonants. That’s why, he is remembered as a typical lexicographers who was the first to introduce the alphabet system in Arabic lexicography. Firstly, he had used originally this method in his «الفائك فى غريب الحديث» dictionary work which was originally intended to interpret difficult words that are found in hadis (a collection of traditions containing sayings of the prophet Muhammad which, with accounts of his daily practice (the Sunna), constitute the major source of guidance for Muslims apart from the Koran).

The author looks at the first and second consonants of the headword in order to put dictionary articles in the alphabetical order. The third, fourth and fifth root consonants are not followed by the alphabetical order. This leads to make it difficult to use the dictionary. Makmud Zamaxshar‘i placed the headwords in the alphabetical order taking into consideration the first, second, third, fourth and fifth root consonants.

After him this method has become a tradition, developed by lexicographers and is still in use.

Another innovation used by Makmud Zamaxshar‘i in «Asosu-l-balogs‘a» is that he gave the vocabulary units without extracting from the phrases and expressions that were in use at that time. This method gave a chance to define the meaning of the entries comprehensively and in detail. Expressions and phrases which were used to define words can be used to study about linguistic features and rules of that period.

Before stating to compile any kind of dictionary, the authors have to answer an important question about how to choose entries and what words should be included in the dictionary. The choice of entries for a dictionary depends on the purpose of the dictionary and expected users[2].

If above mentioned questions are asked for «Asosu-l-balogs'»a), exact answers lie in the preface part of it.

During the development of above stated two ways, Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı wanted to make easier for the users of dictionary. As mentioned in preface, he walked through the Tixan bazaars, mosques and recorded unique and delicate expressions and phrases from orators, preachers and religious scholars. He intended to compile the dictionary of delicate literary Arabic words"[3]. Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı tried to reflect the delicateness and uniqueness of the Arabic literary language in «Asosu-l-balogs'»a). The author stated that preface of the dictionary states that he intended to bring up remarkable orators, preachers and writers. That is why, he named his work «Asosu-l-balogs'»a), that is «Balogs'at asoslari» (the basis of speaking in delicate way).

It is clear that expressions and phrases should be used appropriately and correctly to convey the sense attractively.

This requires to be master in the science of smart thinking and wonderful expressing. Without any doubt, «Asosu-l-balogs'»a) by Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı can be useful as the main source. Makhmud Zamakhshar'ı based on his background knowledge and experience in such areas as linguistics, lexicography, literature and history to compile “Asosu-l-balogs'»a). According to V.M Belkin, “usually lexicographers who have noted and guaranteed the purity of the Arabic vocabulary in their dictionaries do not deal with grammar issues. Only Mahmud Zamakhshari was able to create original works in both grammar and lexicography[4]”.

The factor that indicate the completeness and lexical richness of the dictionary is its sources. It provides examples of fiction and folklore in order to show the peculiarities of the use of a particular word, to reveal the stylistic, and also the features of the word being defined. He used widely illustrative examples in the «Asosu-l-balogs'»a) to provide a more detailed explanation of entries. The basic sources on it are not only the Koran, hadis, but also parts of poetry by prominent poets who lived and worked during and before Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı, phraseologies and proverbs.

As it has been already mentioned, Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı skillfully used phraseologies in his work as an important source of definition. For this reason, V.M Belkin stated that «Asosu-l-balogs'»a) by Mahmud Zamakhshar'ı is a little different from the general way of the development of traditional Arabic lexicography. It looks like a type of phraseological dictionary”[5]. In this case, it is time high to remind one thing. Makhmud Zamaxshar'ı gave definition the vocabulary entries by using phraseology, but in the same place in some cases the phraseology are also defined to reveal meaning. Providing dictionary articles with phraseological phrases in this method gives the reader a better understanding of the meaning of the word. You can see openly this in the below given examples.

Phraseology, that is, phraseological unit consists of meaningful interconnected two or more words and has a general meaning, especially, connotative, which is equivalent to a sentence or a word, as well as are inseparable, stable lexicographical unit. and it is words is a which consists two or more words, or a generic name, which is equivalent to a sentence, inseparable, unstable (stable) links”[6].

For example: kapalagi uchmoq,(to be afraid), ko'ngli joyiga tushmoq,(to calm down) qo'li ochiq(generous) qulog'i og'ir (deaf) and so on.

According to the syntactic structure of phraseology, they are divided into two groups:

- phrases equivalent to combination: katta og'iz (greedy), ammanning buzog'i (clumsy), tuyog'inini shiqillatmoq (to be deported);
- phrases equivalent to sentence: (yuzi yorug', bo'ldi (to make somebody satisfied), boshi osmongga yetdi (to be pleased) sirkasi suv ko'tarmaydi (don't accept criticism).

However, in the following in analyzing the phrases in the «Asosu-l-balogs'»a) we intend to pay attention to types of phraseology rather than their syntactic structure. There are three types of phraseology: phraseological combination (collocation), phraseological fusion, phraseological unity.

Phraseological fusion is a semantically indivisible phraseological unit which meaning is never influenced by the meanings of its components[7]. Some examples in uzbek language: to'nini teskari kiydi (do not want to accept, to refuse), oyog'ini qo'liga olmoq (to be in a hurry), boshini olib chiqib ketmoq (to leave forever). We can find lots of examples of phraseological combination in «Asosu-l-balogs'»a). For instance: رسم
