Pituitary Stalk Interruption Syndrome

National Cancer Institute

Source
National Cancer Institute. Pituitary Stalk Interruption Syndrome, NCI Thesaurus. Code C121150.

A syndrome characterized by hypoplastic or aplastic anterior pituitary gland, a very thin or interrupted pituitary stalk, and ectopic or absent posterior pituitary gland, which may be associated with mutation(s) in the HESX1 or LHX4 genes.