Abstract

This research is intended to find and describe students’ perception about running dictation in ESP classroom. Descriptive method is used of this research. To gain students’ perception about running dictation, the researcher used a questionnaire. The population of this research was the fifth semester students of Cokroaminoto Palopo University. The researcher applied purposive sampling technique and took 15 students as samples of this research. The results show that the students’ perception has advantages and also disadvantages towards running dictation method. The advantages namely: it can increase students’ vocabulary, practice students’ cooperation, practice students’ concentration and memory, and then make the learning process be more fun, interesting and not boring. Meanwhile, the disadvantages namely: it can make the students get injury and feel exhausted because of running. Therefore, based on their perceptions, in solving those problems, the researcher finds a new technique by changing the running becomes walking. This change will be called walking dictation method.

Introduction

English for Banking is one of the branches of English Specific Purpose (ESP) which is taught in the classroom. This subject is focused to discuss about banking include all the vocabularies used in this area. Therefore, vocabulary is one of the most important and essential aspect in learning ESP particularly in mastering banking terms. It is considered as the core of a language because it can be used in all communication areas of banking such as in reading, speaking, listening and writing.

Teaching English vocabulary for banking needs a good method and technique to stimulate the students in mastering vocabulary. So, lecturers or teachers must give full of attention and priority to teach vocabulary particularly in ESP classroom, in order they can improve their students’ skills specifically in mastering English banking vocabularies. Realizing many difficulties and troubles, this is not just enough for English lecturers to prepare their students by giving glossary and asking them to memorize all of those terms, but also needs an effort to find a new method or technique with different atmosphere which is more fun and relax. Thus, the lecturers are expected can practice their students some exercises which can help them in improving their vocabulary without pushing them to memorize all the time. Therefore, they need to find the best way by creating an efficient and effective method to teach vocabulary.

Dictation is described as a technique used in both language teaching and language testing in which a passage is read aloud to students, with pauses during which they must try to write down what they heard as accurately as possible (Richards, Platt, and Platt, 1992) in Arzban and Abdollahi (2013). Moreover, they explained that dictation is used as a technique where the learners receive some spoken input, hold this in their memory for a short time, and then write what they heard. This writing is affected by their skill at listening, their command of the language, and their ability to hold what they have heard in their memory.

Meanwhile, a running dictation orders the students out from their seats and do exercise that engages reading, speaking, listening, writing and also kinesthetic. This method is applied into a competition or race game. Text of reading can be used in a variety of contexts such as article or just words. Each of groups who do this game needs concentration and speed to read the words or sentences, memorize those words as many as they can, after that they will run to their friend and dictate him/her alternately until the time is over.

According to Sofyan R. et al. (2016: 8-12) in their research, there are some benefits of running dictation such as: increasing students’ motivation in learning speaking skill, learning process can be fun because the students can learn and play in same time, practicing students’ memory to increase their vocabulary and improving their pronunciation.

Focusing on those statements above about how to teach vocabulary well, the researcher also tries to apply this running dictation when she taught English for Banking. This is hoped can give good contribution for her students in mastering English Banking vocabulary. Meanwhile, this research emphasized on the students’ perception on running dictation when studied English banking vocabulary in the classroom.

Arifiana (2014) in her research states that running dictation proven to improve students’ Listening skill recount text. By using this technique, it can eliminate the drawbacks listen through the tape. In running dictation, students are required to memorize the word and tell their friends. Then, Zulraudah (2014) concludes that running dictation is a small group activity. It can give a good way in language teaching to get the good achievement. It also can motivate students in learning. It not only gives some benefits to education function but also to the social aspect. Students can learn together and help each other.

Regarding the previous researchers above, this research is hoped it can give some additional information about running dictation for the people. Then, it is also expected can give benefit and contribution in developing teachers’ or lecturers’ teaching strategy, so it can inspire and motivate them to enrich or find out the best method or technique in teaching language particularly English vocabulary, in which their method can be appropriate with their students’ need in the future. Beside that it is also expected to motivate the students in studying English vocabulary particularly banking terms.

Method

This research applied descriptive method. It aims at finding and describing students’ perception on running dictation in ESP classroom. The population of the research was the fifth semester students of Cokroaminoto Palopo University. The researcher applied purposive sampling technique and took class B from three classes as the sample of this research because that class was more active. Then, from that class, she only took the students as samples who had done and knew running dictation method well. So, the total sample of this research was 15 students. A questionnaire was used to gain students’ perception towards running dictation method in teaching English for Banking by writing their own words or opinions about advantages and disadvantages of running dictation based on their experience when did it. Documentation was also used to support the data of this study.

Results

to teach English particularly banking vocabulary.

DISCUSSION

In this research, the researcher found that all the students have good perception towards running dictation method. It can be proven by the students’ perception of number 1 until 15. According to them, there are some advantages of running dictation and most of them have same perception. For example, they stated that running dictation is a very interesting method and it is very useful for the students and also for the teacher/lecturer because it can practice the concentration. Moreover, it also can be used to increase vocabulary. Then, other same perception states that running dictation is a method which is very effective to be used in the classroom because it can practice students’ concentration, it can increase students’ vocabulary and practice students’ cooperation not only individually but also in group (students’ perception number 2 and 3).

Briefly, the researcher found five of students’ same perception such as: 1.) It could increase students’ vocabulary. 2.) It could practice their cooperation to be a good and solid team. 3.) It could practice their concentration and memory to memorize. 4.) It could practice and improve students’ skills in reading, speaking, listening and writing. 5.) It could make the learning process be more fun, interesting and not boring. Those students’ perception can be shown in the table 1 above. Based on their perception, it can be concluded that all of the students as samples of this research responded this running dictation well.

Sjachrun (2010:1) in his research stated that the mastery of vocabulary is one of the important aspects in learning English especially for the students at senior high school. So, how the students can master the English if they are lack of vocabularies. Therefore, as good teachers or lecturers, they must do the best strategy on how to teach English vocabulary. To support and connect that statement with the students’ perception of this research, as proven, one of students stated “running dictation is a method which is very effective to be used in the classroom”. Then, another student also stated “running dictation is a good learning method for the students because it can increase their vocabulary and also teach them about how important the cooperative learning is for them” (students’ perception number 3 and 11).

Referring to Sjachrun’s statement above, the researcher sum up that running dictation is one of methods that can be used to teach English for Banking in the classroom. This method is good to be applied because it can increase students’ vocabulary, it can practice students’ concentration and memory to memorize the words and also it can practice their good cooperation among them to be solid team, so it can motivate them in studying together. Therefore, this method has many advantages and it can be used in all level starting from elementary school until university. Besides, it also can be applied to teach English which can be used to improve students’ skills and vocabulary particularly in ESP classroom.
Meanwhile, the researcher also found the disadvantages of running dictation method. Most of the students argued, when they were running, some of them was falling down and got little injury because the floor was slippery. Briefly, this method could injure the students because of running. Moreover, if someone felt unwell or she/he was in weak condition because of sick, it could make the situation be worst. It can be proven by the students’ perception number 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 14 and 15. As proven, one of them states that it can cause exhausted because of running and also it can cause an injury because of running (students’ perception number 14). According to their same perceptions, it can be concluded that they disagree if they have to be run when they apply this method.

Based on the findings above, the results show that the students’ perception has advantages and also disadvantages towards running dictation method. The advantages namely: it can increase students’ vocabulary, practice students’ cooperation, practice students’ concentration and memory, and then make the learning process be more fun, interesting and not boring. Meanwhile, the disadvantages namely: it can make the students get injury and feel tired because of running. All of the students’ perceptions in this research hoped can give good contribution for the next researchers in developing this method in the future. Then, as the findings of this research, hoped it also can be a suggestion for the teachers or lecturers to be more creative and innovative to design the new technique in implementing this method. Therefore, it can resolve and revise the disadvantages of this method. As example, they can change the running dictation method become walking dictation method. In applying this method, the students do not need to run anymore, but they just do this method by walking slowly or quickly and they cannot run. They will start the game to the reading stage (approaching the wall or chair) as the place of reading text or words by walking. After that they will read the sentence and its structure or vocabulary carefully, and memorize that sentence and its structure or vocabularies as many as they can. The next, they walk again approach a friend who has a duty as a writer slowly or quickly without running while still memorizing and try to keep those sentences or words in their mind, then they dictate her/him clearly. That writer writes that sentence or vocabulary based on what she/he hears correctly. This change is expected can avoid the students to get injury and feel exhausted because of running.

Conclusion

Based on the results of this research, the researcher concludes that the students’ perception about running dictation in ESP classroom has advantages and disadvantages. The advantages of running dictation are: it can increase students’ vocabulary, it can practice their cooperation to be a good and solid team, it can practice their concentration and memory in memorizing, it can practice and improve students’ skills not only one or two skills, but all skills namely reading, speaking, listening and writing. And then, it can also make the learning process be more fun, interesting and not boring. Meanwhile, the disadvantages of this method are: it can make the students get injury and also they can feel exhausted because they have to run. Therefore, based on their perception, to resolve those problems, the researcher finds a new technique by changing the running becomes walking. This change will be called running dictation method.
