The NISTmAb Reference Material 8671 value assignment, homogeneity, and stability.

| Title                                      | The NISTmAb Reference Material 8671 value assignment, homogeneity, and stability. |
|--------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Publication Type                           | Journal Article                                                                  |
| Year of Publication                        | 2018                                                                             |
| Authors                                    | Schiel, JE, Turner, A, Mouchahoir, T, Yandrofski, K, Telikepalli, S, King       |
| Journal                                    | Anal Bioanal Chem                                                                |
| Volume                                     | 410                                                                               |
| Issue                                      | 8                                                                                |
| Pagination                                 | 2127-2139                                                                        |
| Date Published                             | 2018 Mar                                                                         |
| ISSN                                       | 1618-2650                                                                        |
| Abstract                                   | The NISTmAb Reference Material (RM) 8671 is intended to be an industry standard  |
| DOI                                        | 10.1007/s00216-017-0800-1                                                         |
| Alternate Journal                          | Anal Bioanal Chem                                                                |
| PubMed ID                                  | 29411089                                                                         |
| PubMed Central ID                          | PMC5830482                                                                       |