

Ketan Gandhi is a computer science student currently pursuing bachelor's in technology from vellore institute of technology. he is based out of New Delhi, india. he is from New Delhi, india. He is a result-oriented individual with attention to detail and strong fundamental knowledge and a keen interest in the field of data science, machine learning, and web development technologies. He has prior experience in software development and data science. Some of prior working experience are working as a software developer at futurionic(a startup venture based out of gurugram), he also worked as a research intern at vit university in the area of computer vision etc. He is 19 years old and was born on 11th December 2003. his accomplishments may include holding 2nd position in HOUSE OF DEVELOPERS(a 48 hour hackathon conducted by GDSC, vit chennai and Zeeve) as well as 3rd position in WEBVERSE(a 24 hour hackathon conducted by android club, vit chennai). he knows how to speak and write English, Hindi, Spanish. his techstack includes HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, Python, Open Source, Machine learning (in production), NLP, Flask, Django, Node.js, Express.js, MongoDB, SQL, Git, GitHub, Linux. his gmail id is gandhi.ketan55555@gmail.com . you can contact him at gandhi.ketan55555@gmail.com or simply call him at +91 9810441724. He has worked on several real world projects for various startups, hackathons along with several other personal projects in the domain of data science and software development. he is currently looking for job oppurtunities. he is open for working on new and innovative projects and idea.